STAR-BULLETIN TO FURNISH BIG 'SPREAD' FOR ITS 200 NEWSBOYS

Special Train Will Take the Youngsters to Peninsula for Thanksgiving Picnic

Who wouldn't be a "newsie" for one day in the year at least, if he could get a real, old-fashioned Thanksgiving dinner, with turkey, cranberry sauce, pumpkin pie, and all the "fixins'?"

Next Thursday will be such a day, when the national holiday will be observed by the Star-Bulletin, which will print no paper November 25, and will entertain all its newsboys and carriers, numbering 200, with a Thanksgiving dinner at the Peninsula.

Selling and distributing papers will be forgotten, and the youngsters without whom the paper could not reach many of its subscribers, or purchasers, will be guests of the Star-Bulletin the entire day.

To carry the small army of youngsters to the picnic grounds, a special train has been chartered from the Oahu Railway and Land Company. The boys will meet in front of the Star-Bulletin office on Alakea street, at 8 o'clock next Thursday morning, and will leave promptly at 9 o'clock from the railroad station, in their three-car special, decorated in a manner leaving no doubt that it is a train of newsboys.

Every boy who has a bathing suit is asked to bring it along, as surf bathing at the beach will be a part of the day's program, giving the newsies a chance to work up even larger appetites than the excellent ones they usually have as a result of shouting their wares and delivering the Star-Bulletin to every part of Honolulu.

Three Men in Charge. In charge of the boys will be Circulation Manager J. R. Bruce, whose assistant will be Harold Godfrey, head of the Star-Bulletin's mailing department. Leo Madeira, route man, will also help his associates in seeing that the boys get all the turkey and "fixins'" they can eat. Soda water, nuts and candies will top off the feast.

At Pearl City the special will stop to take on five carriers from Schofield Barracks, who distribute the paper at the big army post. They will be in charge of William von Kolkow, collector and solicitor of the Star-Bulletin there.

No set program has been arranged, and the order of the day will be a good time for everybody. Stunts of various kinds will be improvised to entertain the boys until the "big feed" is ready. The Palace of Sweets has charge of serving the dinner.

For a number of years the Star-Bulletin has made the Thanksgiving dinner for its carrier boys and street sellers an annual feature, so that Thanksgiving is looked forward to every year by the youngsters, as eagerly as Christmas.

The outing and dinner will be an all-day affair, and the return trip will not be made until late in the afternoon.

GROW JOHNNY JUMPUPS FOR LANE; SWEET WILLIAMS FOR BILL LARSEN

A new park for the city which shall be built, planned and cared for by men only—this is a plan of Harry E. Murray, general manager of the water and sewer system.

Murray conceived the idea when he began to think over plans for plotting out the grass on the Beretania street pumping station grounds. Somebody suggested to him to let a woman do the planning.

Murray shook his head. "No," he said, "that is the old story. Pretty soon we'll be coming to think that men don't know enough to set out a park and take care of it. I prefer that this shall be a park for which the men alone are responsible."

Then Murray called in Val Holt of the federal experiment station, asking him to act as arbitrator, for the trouble has arisen over the affair between "Bill" Larsen, head of the water committee, and Mayor Lane. Larsen wants large, husky-growing plants in the new park, while the mayor favors dainty ones.

Water will be furnished for irrigation from the waste that results in testing out the city water meters. A test house, together with sheds for storing water supplies, and a meter room and garage are now under course of construction. The park will lie on the mauka and Ewa side of the pumping plant.

Murray says he doesn't know yet what the name of the park will be—maybe that will be left to the ladies, he says, and anyway, it is a detail which can be settled later.

"No maidenhair ferns will be grown in the new park, nor will there be any marigolds, violets, daisies, lady slippers or others of feminine preference," says Murray. "Instead, we shall name them as near as possible after the masculine. There will be a Johnny Jump-up in honor of the mayor, a Sweet William for Supervisor Larsen, and Loganberry vines for the chairman of the public finance and expenditure committee."

and foreign electrical, mechanical and civil engineering societies.

His testimony was with regard to his personal acquaintance with the various units which make up the system of the Rapid Transit. He also explained in detail the question of theoretical depreciation in general, and the elements entering into the depreciation of a plant of the type of construction of the Rapid Transit, taking up such questions as functional depreciation, wear and tear, obsolescence and inadequacy of type.

MAYOR ORDERED BAND TO PLAY FOR DELEGATE

Failure of the Royal Hawaiian band to appear at two concerts scheduled for them during the last week has caused the comment to be made that Mayor Lane is having them play at private functions when they should appear before the public.

So far as the mayor is concerned he issued orders but once to have the band play at a private residence. This order was on Tuesday night when the rainy appearance of the weather caused him to have the concert changed from Thomas square to the home of Delegate J. K. Kalaniana'ole at Waikiki. The band had already played there in the morning, but the promise of inclement weather led him to request Peter Kalani, leader, to move out to the house of the delegate and play in honor of King Kalakaua's birthday.

"As to last night I know nothing," says the mayor, "except that Kalani phoned me stating that he had no certain place scheduled, and asking my opinion on a place to play. As none had been chosen I decided that the boys could be let off for the evening, and so told him that they need play nowhere."

MANY ADVANCES IN GUARD WILL BE MADE SOON

Numerous promotions and appointments may be made in the National Guard shortly after the return of Brigadier-General Samuel I. Johnson, the adjutant-general, from his trip to Hawaii, new officers being needed to bring the organization up to the standard set by the government regulations.

While the line officers will not be changed on account of the growth of the organization, there will be a number of staff promotions to bring greater efficiency and fill existing vacancies, and the staff is to be largely increased.

Under the tables of organization issued by the government, a brigade is entitled to have in the headquarters two majors, three captains and five first-class sergeants, which will mean an increase over the present headquarters corps of one major, one captain and two first-class sergeants. The Medical Corps, Territorial Headquarters, is entitled to another captain.

On the brigade staff there is to be appointed a brigade adjutant, who, according to the tables of organization, is supposed to be a major in the adjutant-general's department. An inspector of small arms practice is also allowed, and a major of the Medical Corps is allowed for the brigade staff, separate from State Headquarters or regimental Medical Corps officers.

All of these promotions will in a way reach back to the line officers, some of whom will be promoted to the ranks mentioned above so that those below them will be stepped up a peg.

Having gotten the National Guard up to a size which but for high efficiency at headquarters would make it unwieldy, Brigadier-General Samuel I. Johnson, commander, and Lieut. W. C. Whitener, U. S. A., inspector-instructor with the Hawaiian militia, are aiming now at higher efficiency.

In point of numbers and in enthusiasm the Guard on the islands now exceeds that of nearly any state on the mainland, and it is now the intention of the officers to bring it up to a point where in drilling, tactics and general organization it will be the finest of them all. That this can be done is almost assured by the past record in organization.

Officers of the Guard are not being selected at random, and they have to be capable, interested, willing to work and able to pass a strict examination. General Johnson is not considering anything but ability in selecting officers, and those who do not ret in and "make good" just as though they were working for a regular salary are weeded out and other men found who can take their place. In the ranks of the Guard here there are hundreds of capable men, and to these promotion comes rapidly.

Officials hope to see a large part of the population out Sunday, November 22, to the regimental review. It is thought that a close view of the Guard and the first-hand knowledge of what has been done with a body of practically raw recruits in three months' time, during which the militia was evolved from a body of 500 loosely organized men to a brigade of 2700 men will awaken more enthusiasm here and serve to keep alive the present feeling that the National Guard is of great importance and should have every possible encouragement.

SCHOOL PUPILS TO PLANT MANY TREES TOMORROW

Special music and brief talks appropriate for the occasion will constitute the territorial normal school's program of Arbor Day exercises tomorrow. Programs similar to this one will be held in the various schools of the city.

The music at the Normal will be in charge of Miss Margaret Cooke. In the grades the teachers will conduct exercises of a type best adapted to each grade and will talk on the value of trees and their relation to school work.

It is expected that tomorrow the Normal students will partially complete the planting of a row of kukui trees on the terrace back of the school. No other planting will be done as trees have been placed on each Arbor Day during the last 10 years and the grounds are now well supplied with shrubbery.

Several hundred have been supplied to the schools by the forest bureau, and these will be planted tomorrow by public school children in various parts of the city.
